

Further Food Waste Tips

For Poster 8

The Felix Project collects fresh, nutritious food that cannot be sold.

They deliver this to schools and charities so that healthy meals can be provided for the most vulnerable in our society.

This Project is currently London based but could it be extended or a similar one set up in our area?

Is this a project of the type you might be interested in? Google for further information.